

Economic Development Educator Workshop

Description: This workshop is Day Two of the first annual Applied Economics Educator Academy hosted by the MSU Extension and the MSU Department of Agricultural Economics.

It is time to bring educators and students into the world of economic development in Mississippi! Join us as we investigate the main ideas behind economic and community development, how local economies work and how to grow them, data analysis of communities, and how to bring students into the world of economic development and economic development into the classroom. Difficult topics will be understandable to novices in economics.

Taught by personable MSU faculty who have won teaching awards. Educators will receive information on educational programs which engage students in their communities.

For: All educators, including agricultural, natural resources, social science, business, and economics

When: June 21

Where: Starkville, MS, 310 Lloyd Ricks Watson

Fee: optional $10 for delivered lunch. Feel free to bring your own lunch.

Requirement: None

What's in it for me? Better understanding of important and difficult-to-learn-and-teach-topics, networking with experts, lesson ideas, and 0.5 CEUs

Contact:Becky.smith@msstate.edu

Registration Deadline: June 21

Register: <https://techoutreach.msucare.com/applied-economics-educator-academy>

